ROBERT A. WALTON, CEO FOR CLAREMONT UNIVERSITY CONSORTIUM APPLAUDS ROBERT DAY'S GIFT TO CLAREMONT MCKENNA COLLEGE

CLAREMONT, Calif. — Robert A. Walton, Chief Executive Officer for Claremont University Consortium, commented on the announcement earlier today of an unprecedented personal gift of $200 million to Claremont McKenna College by alumnus and trustee Robert Day, “On behalf of the entire Consortium, I would like to express our deepest appreciation and gratitude to Robert Day for this extraordinary generous gift. It will undoubtedly contribute to the intellectual vitality of our colleges and will have a tremendous impact in shaping future leaders.”

Claremont University Consortium (CUC) is the central coordinating institution of The Claremont Colleges. As such, CUC provides common services for the internationally renowned cluster of two graduate and five undergraduate colleges serving more than 6,000 students. The consortium offers the expansive physical facilities and wide selection of courses, faculty, student services and extracurricular activities of a university, and the personalized education of small private colleges. The Consortium includes Pomona College (1887), Claremont Graduate University (1925), Scripps College (1926), Claremont McKenna College (1946), Harvey Mudd College (1955), Pitzer College (1963), and the Keck Graduate Institute of Applied Life Science (1997) and Claremont University Consortium (1925).
