

Other Groups on Campus

FAMILY is the Queer/Straight Women's Alliance at Scripps College whose purpose is to provide a forum in which straight and queer women can come together to discuss, debate, celebrate and show support for queer issues.

The Pitzer Queer and Allies Club (PQuAC) exists to provide a safe zone on Pitzer's campus where students can come together to discuss, debate, celebrate and show support for queer issues.

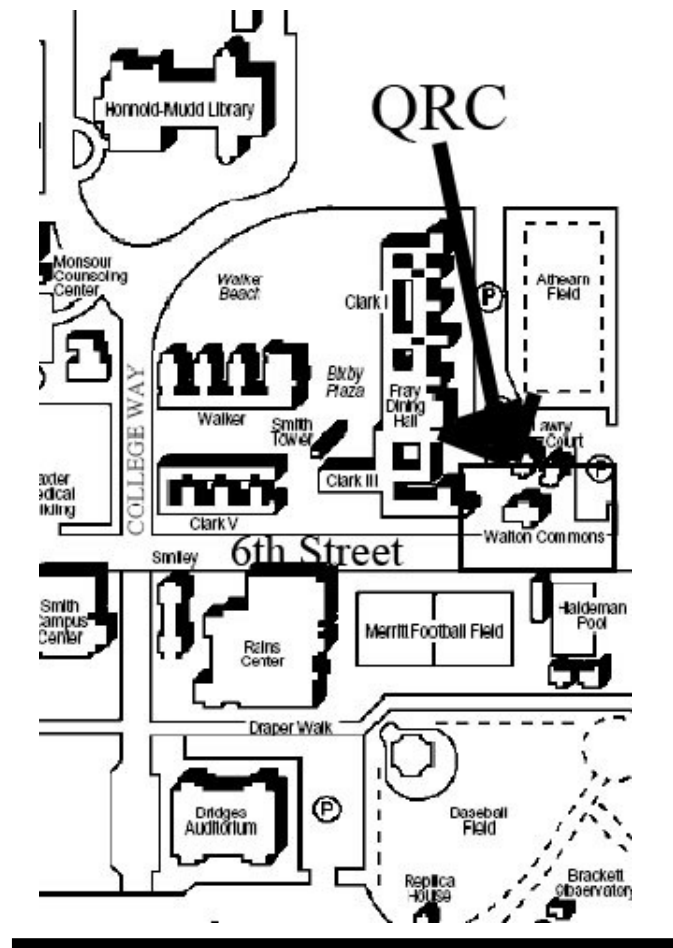

Prism is Harvey Mudd College's queer student organization.

Queers of Faith is a five-college discussion group for queer, questioning and allied students of all faiths to talk about the issues surrounding their intersecting identities. It is a safe, confidential space for people to share personal experiences and discuss difficult questions with others.

Straight But Not Narrow brings together heterosexual students who support lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender rights in order to better serve and support the LGBT community both at CMC and the Claremont Colleges. We provide a safe and supportive environment for straight allies and LGBT students alike.

TRANScend is a five-college discussion-based organization focusing on genderqueer/transgender issues. We primarily emphasize community building with the end goal of grassroots activism. As well, we offer a safe space for Claremont College students of all genders and sexual orientations.

Women on Women (WOW) is a five-college group for queer and questioning women. The group focuses on developing a sense of community among queer women through discussion of issues affecting the community as well as social events.

Mission Statement and Resources Offered

Annual QRC Events

The mission of the Queer Resource Center of the five Claremont Colleges is to empower each lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer and questioning person to have a positive college experience, grow as a self-aware individual and be a responsible community member.

QRC Resources

- We have a large collection of LGBT-related books which can be checked out for textbooks, research material or just for fun;
- We have a wide selection of queer movies that can be checked out for free;
- The QRC's student staff plan fantastic social, educational, and political programs throughout the year in addition to co-sponsoring many others with various organizations;
- The QRC lounge can be used for meetings, doing homework, practicing piano, playing foosball, or simply hanging out with friends in a safe space.

Coordinator is available for:

- Informal counseling related to LGBT issues, including coming out to friends and family and dealing with homophobia, both external and internal;
- Advocating for students in all aspects of college life;
- Acting as a liaison with faculty and administration to improve students' academic experiences;
- Connecting students to local organizations;
- Connecting students to alumni.

QQAMP: The Queer, Questioning and Allied Mentor Program is a confidential, five-college program open to all students designed to provide support, information, and a way to learn more about and get involved with the queer, questioning and allied community on campus as well as give support for and information on a range of queer-related issues through one-on-one interactions.

For more information or to request a mentor either go to the QRC's website or email QQAMP at:
qqamp@cuc.claremont.edu

Queer Faculty and Staff Mentor Program: The mission of the Queer Faculty and Staff Mentor Program is to pair queer faculty and staff with queer and questioning students in order to assist students as they develop academically, professionally, and socially as members of the five college community and the surrounding world. Our goal is to foster community building and encourage more faculty/staff and student interaction.

For more information or to request a faculty or staff mentor, please email the Coordinator at
